Bowles marks fifth year Senator maintains busy schedule

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

Long before Evelyn Bowles became a member of the Illinois Senate or even the Madison County clerk, she brought students to visit the State Capitol. As a teacher in Edwardsville and Livingston, she used to arrange field trips to Springfield. During one of those visits, a colleague

The image was almost prophetic. Nearly 50 years later, Bowles has a seat of her own on the Senate floor. When the colleague sent her a copy of the photo from their teaching days, Bowles posed for a shot in her chair. "I sent her a copy," Bowles said.

SWIDA loses case

Agency exceeded rights in land grab

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

An Illinois appeals court has ruled that the Southwestern Illinois Development Authority exceeded its constitutional authority by using its quick-take, eminent domain powers to seize land in the former village of National City for Gateway International Raceway.

The court said the agency used eminent domain - the power to take private property for a public use - for the economic benefit of one company, Gateway International Raceway.

In a separate concurring opinion, one of the judges hearing the case, Justice Clyde Kuehn, argued that legislation - part of original tax increment financing law from the early 80s - that gives SWIDA that power is unconstitutional.

The case involves a 144-acre tract of land owned by National City Environmental LLC, also known as St. Louis Auto Shredding Co.

In April 1996, at the request of Gateway International Raceway, SWIDA used its quick-take powers to obtain the land. That same day, the land was sold to Gateway for use as a parking lot. However, construction was delayed while the case worked its way through the judicial system.

SWIDA was created 11 years ago to promote economic development in Madison and St. Clair counties. In addition to quick-take, it also issues bonds - approximately $290 million in the past 11 years - and provides help for communities developing tax increment financing districts.

SWIDA Executive Director Alan Ortals said Tuesday that the agency has not made a final decision on whether to appeal the case to the Illinois Supreme Court, but it is very likely.

He said the agency has used its quick-take powers about 10 times and only as a "last resort."

Ortals said he was "surprised" by the ruling. "We're disappointed," he said. "What the court found was that economic development was not a sufficient public purpose."

"We believe economic development is an important public purpose," he added.

Gov. Ryan pushes 'FIRST'

Plan would increase license fees, beer tax

By Darryl Howlett
Staff writer

Gov. George H. Ryan announced Wednesday a new public works program that could bolster the economy of the River Bend.

Ryan explained during a press conference the need for "Illinois FIRST," a $12 billion public works program to rebuild and expand the state's roads and highways, renovate mass transit systems, repair and enlarge schools and meet the various needs of local communities.

Included in the funding would be $280 million to complete the Alton Bypass, which would take Illinois 255 from Interstate 255 to U.S. 67 in Godfrey.

Illinois FIRST, which stands for Fund for Infrastructure, Roads, Schools and Transit, had been unveiled by Ryan on Tuesday during a joint session of the General Assembly in Springfield.

"Illinois FIRST reaches into every corner of our state. It addresses needs that are urban, suburban and rural."

pare our state for the future. And it gives us the chance to make sure that we leave our children a better Illinois than the one we inherited."

The components of Illinois FIRST include: A $4.1 billion supplement to the state's existing surface and air transportation program for roads, rail and air infrastructure.

A $4.1 billion allocation for bus, rail and other mass transportation infrastructure

Beating trial handed to jury

Victim spent three weeks in coma, still in therapy

By Curtiss A. Hartley
Staff writer

Closing arguments were to begin today and the jury is expected to get the case of a Collinsville man accused of beating and stabbing his girlfriend.

Gruesome details of the attack were a key element of Wednesday's testimony in the attempted first-degree murder trial of Michael Miller.

Miller, who was living in a hotel in Collinsville at the time of the alleged incident, is charged in the attack on his cousin, Lavita "Annie" Butkus, under a railroad bridge in Venice on Aug. 2. Butkus, who worked at the S&L Rub Club in Brooklyn, spent 21 days in a coma after being stabbed and beaten. Her mother, Ida Burnett of West Chester, Ohio, said Butkus still suffers from the traumatic brain injury due to a lack of

CART driver crashes

Racer suffers concussion on test lap

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

A driver taking test laps at Gateway International Raceway in Madison was hospitalized with a concussion Tuesday after a crash.

Mark Blundell of England, a driver for the Motorola/PacWest/Mercedes/Reynard team, lost control of his car as he entered Turn 3 and "crashed hard" into the wall, said Gateway officials. Blundell was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City and transferred to St. Louis University Hospital at about 1 a.m. Wednesday, said SEMC spokesman John Mohl. Blundell was still hospitalized and listed in "fair" condition Wednesday afternoon, said a spokesman for St. Louis University Hospital. Gateway International Raceway Safety Director Rick Hill said Blundell suffered a concussion and doctors took additional X-rays to make sure there were no other serious injuries.

Blundell was the last driver on the course late Tuesday afternoon, and one of 11 CART drivers participating in the all-day testing session. Testing has been held over the last few weeks in preparation for the May 29 Motorola 300 CART FedEx Championship Series.

An improved infrastructure helps keep us very competitive

Incentive packages also puts Illinois on a level playing field

By Jay Hoffman

The Metro East area has enjoyed a great deal of growth over the past decade. Economic growth requires attention and planning. There are things we need to do now to attract new businesses and spur economic growth.

Infrastructure is perhaps the most important concern for businesses. In order for manufacturing businesses to succeed, they must have easy access to major highways so they can transport their product to consumers across the country. In order for service or retail businesses to succeed, consumers must have easy access to major highways so they can transport their product to consumers across the country. In order for service or retail businesses to succeed, consumers need easy access. For these reasons, our roads, bridges and interstates must be safe and accessible.

Illinois has to stay informed of what our border states are doing. To remain competitive with other states, we must consider offering businesses incentives to locate in Illinois. Currently, Missouri, Indiana and Kentucky all have implemented economic development packages that reward businesses that bring jobs to their states.

In an attempt to level the playing field, I am co-sponsoring legislation that creates a similar economic development package that would allow Illinois to compete with our neighboring states. Businesses that choose to locate in Illinois and create at least 100 new jobs will be eligible for the incentive package.

This opportunity is good for businesses seeking to locate in Illinois and it will help bring jobs to communities in Illinois.

Letters to the Editor

Primary seat belt laws protect our children

TO THE EDITOR: Each year, dozens of children die on Illinois roadways simply because they were not wearing seat belts. Car crashes are the leading cause of death to children. Every state has passed mandatory seat belt laws for children, yet six out of 10 children killed in auto wrecks are unbelted. Hundreds of children will continue to die on our roadways until the current state law is changed. The evidence is clear: Drivers who do not buckle up do not buckle up children.

A recent study published by the medical journal "Pediatrics" found that driver belt use is the best predictor of child restraint use. When drivers use seat belts, children are three times more likely to be buckled.

Primary enforcement seat belt laws allow police to stop and ticket drivers for not wearing a seat belt, just like any other traffic violation. Currently, 14 states and the District of Columbia have enacted primary enforcement laws. The remaining 36 states allow police to ticket drivers for failure to wear seat belts only after they have been stopped for another traffic violation.

States that have enacted primary enforcement laws have much higher rates of seat belt use. When Louisiana passed a primary enforcement law, child seat belt use in that state increased from 45 percent to 82 percent in just two years.

The passage of a primary enforcement law in Illinois is projected to save 210 lives, prevent 6,616 injuries and save $415 million each year.

These hard statistics persuaded our Midwest neighbors, Indiana and Iowa, to pass prudent, primary enforcement seat belt laws.

Our neighbors agree: Tough seat belt laws work. They reduce traffic fatalities in general, and more specifically, they save the lives of hundreds of children each year.

Those who claim primary enforcement laws deprive motorists of their "personal freedom" should consider the children who die in car crashes every day as a result of their parents' willingness to invoke that "personal freedom."

Who's really the pathetic person here?

TO THE EDITOR: I would like to respond to one of your readers who wrote an article in your April 11 opinions section.

Sandra L. Crowley wrote about a young girl confined to a wheelchair suing her school because she wanted to be on the "cheerleading squad" and was denied since it was physically impossible for her to perform any of the cheers.

She sued the school for "discrimination" and won! This lady ended her letter with four words that made me want to sound off to her and others who think like she does.

She said "How very, very pathetic." Obviously this lady was standing up when she wrote this. If she were confined to a wheelchair, her view would be different.

I say "more power to this young girl and her achievement and to outgoing nature to go for something she wanted."

Everyone deserves a chance and a dream. God gave each one of us spirit and strength to endure and to live each day to its fullest.

JODY SVZDEK Freeburg

Writer got it all wrong: Hyde's a patriot

TO THE EDITOR: I did not see the letter that precipitated Mr. Reinhold's vitriolic and personal attack on Rep. Hyde. I cannot allow the remarks to pass without comment.

I watched the impeachment proceedings with interest and pride. Rep. Hyde presided with grace and a strict adherence to the Constitutional mandate.

The minority party received consideration at every turn to include an attempt to circumvent the Constitution through the censure play.

The fact that the minority party did not succeed should not be reflected in wholesale, mindless name-calling.

Rational review would disclose the minority party received more consideration for its views than required under the House rules.

Mr. Reinhold states the President "is obviously guilty as charged." He should also note that the President was the sole cause of his being in the predicament in the first place and revealing the truth does not constitute a smear.

Rep. Hyde conducted himself as a gentleman; the contrasts between him and the President and his minions were stark and telling.

Denver tragedy shows we must care about kids

TO THE EDITOR: The recent tragedy in Denver reminded me all too well about why we must care for our children.

According to non-stop media coverage, the individuals responsible for the massacre in Littleton, Colo., were two teenage boys — kids.

Classmates reported that the boys were considered "nerds," "losers" and "didn't really belong." As a result, the boys considered themselves "outsiders."

It is extremely troubling to acknowledge when a child feels left out, different, and has no sense of belonging, extreme violence can be the consequence and everyone suffers.

At Big Brothers/Big Sisters, we are doing everything we can to match boys and girls with caring adults — giving them a sense of belonging and a place where they can feel special, valued and appreciated.

In a national study conducted by Public/Private Ventures, researchers found that boys and girls matched with a Big Brother or Big Sister were less likely to join gangs and engage in violence.

How do we accomplish this? Support mentoring... Be a Big Brother or Big Sister!

Collinsville man's trial sent to jury

oxygen. "She either stopped breathing, or she didn't breathe deep enough" as a result of the stab and blows to the head, Burnett said. "There's permanent brain damage."

Burnett cried as she described her first look at her daughter at Saint Louis University Hospital following the beating.

Bulkus underwent several surgeries to close wounds and to insert metal and plastic plates to rebuild her face, according to a statement from hospital personnel read by Associate Judge James Hackett.

Burnett testified that Bulkus still is undergoing therapy.

"She's my miracle," Burnett said. "I spent four days not knowing whether I should take my daughter off a respirator or not."

Joshua Cook, a longtime friend of Miller's, said that he and Miller went to pick up Bulkus from work so that Bulkus could buy gas for his truck, as well as purchase food and drugs.

After getting the gasoline, Miller and Bulkus got into an argument and asked Cook to pull over, he said.

Cook stopped under a viaduct, where the couple got out and the argument intensified. Cook remained in the truck.

"Annie came running toward me, Mike grabbed her by the back of the hair and kept hitting her," he said. "Then he went from hitting her to stabbing her with the knife."

Cook described an 8-inch fillet knife Miller had shown off earlier in the day.

"When the knife broke, he picked up the blade and tried to cut her neck," Cook said.

Miller then retrieved a tire tool from the truck and continued to hit Bulkus at least 15 more times, Cook said.

Miller was the first witness in his defense. He gave an account similar to that of the prosecution witnesses except he claimed Cook attacked Bulkus.

Miller said when the truck stopped under the viaduct, he left to buy something to drink, leaving Cook and Bulkus to talk. Miller testified that when he came back, he saw Bulkus laying on the ground, and Cook standing over her "like he was throwing something," Miller said.

Jensen pointed out in cross examination that Miller never told that version of the story previously.

"I live amongst the code," Miller said. "My code, I've lived for a long time, is not to be a snitch. I was gonna let him tell on himself."

Several prosecution witnesses testified that Bulkus was seen in the spring and summer of 1998 with bruises and blackened eyes, and appeared to be frightened of Miller.

Barbara Declue of St. Louis, a co-worker of Bulkus, testified that Bulkus constantly had fingerprint bruises and fist marks on her body.

"On one occasion she had two black eyes, knots standing out on her head and fist marks on her chest," Declue said.

Waynette Hall said she saw Bulkus with the defendant and Joshua Cook at a Mobil gas station after the two women were left alone. Miller acted "rude and angry" toward Bulkus, Hall said.

Miller, who has a previous felony conviction on a 1996 narcotics charge, lived in Collinsville and worked off and on at odd jobs, before moving into a room at the Howard Johnson's in Collinsville with Bulkus.

Katheryn Dus, a taxi driver who often drove Bulkus to and from work, said that she seemed scared and afraid of Miller. But Dus at first was unable to identify Miller in the courtroom.

Dus testified that during the weekend prior to Aug. 2, she had driven Miller and Bulkus to a Collinsville shoe store. Miller threatened Bulkus, Dus said.

"He said he's gonna bust her head in, he was gonna kill her," she said. "Annie (Bulkus) tried to play it off, but he said, 'I'm gonna kill you someday.' I asked them not to fight in my cab."

Lavita Bulkus took the stand briefly to recount her attack. Jensen asked if she remembered being hurt by Miller.

"Honestly, he hit me in the head, and I knocked me out," Bulkus said. "He wanted me to buy the drugs and I told him no, we had bills to pay, and he saw that as a reason to hit me."

Another co-worker testified that in the hours before the beating, Bulkus told her she was "having boyfriend trouble."

Waynette Hall said she saw Bulkus with the defendant and Joshua Cook at a Mobil gas station after the two women were left alone. Miller acted "rude and angry" toward Bulkus, Hall said.

Miller, who has a previous felony conviction on a 1996 narcotics charge, lived in Collinsville and worked off and on at odd jobs, before moving into a room at the Howard Johnson's in Collinsville with Bulkus.

"The Alton Bypass is a key component of the (U.S.) 67 corridor," Ryan said. "This will assist in the economic development of the area. It's a good program and a strong investment. This program presents a unique opportunity to establish a partnership between state, federal and local governments. We need to do this together."

"It's been a great learning experience for me," Bowles said of her Senate tenure. "I kind of knew what it was like to be a legislator, but I didn't realize the depth of parliamentary procedure and the rules of order."

As she did in her more than 40 years in the clerk's office, Bowles spends much of her days with people — both those she works for and with. Despite an active-packed day, she always has time to greet co-workers, employees and the public she serves.

During the recent Chamber of Commerce Business Day, Bowles represented from all over the state together in Springfield. Bowles found many familiar faces inside the Capitol. A few were just outside her office door.

Those faces belonged to William Hurtel and Carl Weakley of the Edwardsville Chamber of Commerce. The conversation mixed business with a comical account of Bowles' trip to St. Andrews, the grandfather of golf courses in Fifehead, Scotland. She showed them a photo from her trip displayed on an office wall.

At a time when women weren't supposed to be on the course, Bowles happened into a conversation where a man asked if she had seen the women who had been out there.

"I said, 'Yes. My companion and I just played it,'" Bowles recalled.

Later, as she walked through the Capitol's main floor, Bowles ran across some fellow church members from St. Mary's in Edwardsville and an old friend, St. Clair County Clerk Sam Flood, just outside Secretary of State Jesse White's office.

Bowles, who turned 78 last month, glides through her busy schedule with energy that many people half her age would envy. She regularly takes the stairs rather than use an elevator, can locate a file in a flash and often answers her own telephone.

While she is certainly at home in her Senate surroundings and becoming something of a veteran among her peers, Bowles said she always finds something new not only in her work but in the Capitol building itself.

"I go wandering around looking at all these historical paintings," Bowles said. "I feel like a tourist."

SWIDA exceeded its authority, court rules

In the ruling handed down April 29, the 8th District Appellate Court in Mount Vernon stated that "SWIDA exceeded its constitutional authority in taking NCE's land by eminent domain."

The company argued that the land could be taken only for "public use" rather than to benefit an individual company.

The court said that in cases cited by both sides, "the principal is that land can be taken for a proper public use, taking private property under the law of eminent domain is in direct contravention" of the Illinois constitution.

"The expansion of Gateway parking is a private use, rather than a public use," the court said. "Notwithstanding any incidental economic benefit from SWIDA's actions in this case, we cannot subordinate a constitutional right to private corporate interests."

In his separate opinion, Kuehn concurred with the ruling but said he believes the law that allowed SWIDA the authority to take property is unconstitutional.

"If property ownership is to remain what our forefathers intended it to be, the economic byproducts of a private capitalist's ability to develop land cannot justify a surrender of ownership to eminent domain," he said.

If a government agency can decide property ownership solely upon its view of who would put that property to more productive or attractive use, the inalienable right to own and enjoy property to the exclusion of others will pass to a privileged few who constitute society's elite," he said.

"The rich may not inherit the earth, but they most assuredly will inherit the means to acquire any part of it they desire."

Jeff Pitzer, an attorney for NCE, said the company is "extremely pleased" with the ruling.

"We thought that it was the correct ruling and we're very happy with the court's decision," Pitzer said.

independent landowners should have the right to keep their property in this country, even if the fat cats want to take it away from them," he said.

NCE had planned to expand its landfill operation on the property.

The company shreds and recycles automobiles. The remaining material, called "luff," is put in an on-site landfill.

If uncontested, the ruling could create major problems for future expansion at the raceway, which planned to use the land to create a 14,000-vehicle parking lot.

At this time, the raceway is able to park vehicles on surrounding fields, but it is expected many of those locations will be lost to the raceway because of development.

Without adequate parking, the raceway would not be able to achieve the 100,000-plus seats necessary to attract a Winston Cup Series NASCAR race.

Raceway officials could not be reached for comment.

The next scheduled CART race is the Rio 400, set for May 15 in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

Bowles still learning after five years in Senate

communities. Appointed to succeed Sen. Sam Vadalabene after his death in May 1994, Bowles still calls her native Edwardsville "home" but keeps a Springfield apartment during her legislative sessions.

"It's been a great learning experience for me," Bowles said of her Senate tenure. "I kind of knew what it was like to be a legislator, but I didn't realize the depth of parliamentary procedure and the rules of order."

As she did in her more than 40 years in the clerk's office, Bowles spends much of her days with people — both those she works for and with. Despite an active-packed day, she always has time to greet co-workers, employees and the public she serves.

During the recent Chamber of Commerce Business Day, Bowles represented from all over the state together in Springfield. Bowles found many familiar faces inside the Capitol. A few were just outside her office door.

Those faces belonged to William Hurtel and Carl Weakley of the Edwardsville Chamber of Commerce. The conversation mixed business with a comical account of Bowles' trip to St. Andrews, the grandfather of golf courses in Fifehead, Scotland. She showed them a photo from her trip displayed on an office wall.

At a time when women weren't supposed to be on the course, Bowles happened into a conversation where a man asked if she had seen the women who had been out there.

"I said, 'Yes. My companion and I just played it,'" Bowles recalled.

Later, as she walked through the Capitol's main floor, Bowles ran across some fellow church members from St. Mary's in Edwardsville and an old friend, St. Clair County Clerk Sam Flood, just outside Secretary of State Jesse White's office.

Bowles, who turned 78 last month, glides through her busy schedule with energy that many people half her age would envy. She regularly takes the stairs rather than use an elevator, can locate a file in a flash and often answers her own telephone.

While she is certainly at home in her Senate surroundings and becoming something of a veteran among her peers, Bowles said she always finds something new not only in her work but in the Capitol building itself.

"I go wandering around looking at all these historical paintings," Bowles said. "I feel like a tourist."

Police Blotter

Granite City Police BURGLARY: Items valued at $500 were stolen early Tuesday morning from a home located in the 2100 block of Iowa.

A police report stated that the victim was asleep when three individuals entered the living room area through the rear of the house. Upon hearing noise coming from the living room, the victim awoke and yelled at the individuals who then fled. Afterward, she discovered that five rings were missing.

DRIVING WITH A SUSPENDED LICENSE: Larry Mosby, 29, of 1126 College Ave., was arrested at 8:20 a.m. Monday on a warrant for driving with a suspended license.

OBSTRUCTION OF JUSTICE: Steven Callender, 18, of 838 N. Poplar St., was arrested early Saturday for obstructing justice, criminal trespass of property, disorderly conduct and committing a hate crime.

According to a police report, Callender and two other people on Friday evening allegedly pounded on a woman's residence located in the 4100 block of Kirkpatrick Homes. The three returned at about 2:40 a.m. Saturday, allegedly pounding on the window to provoke the woman's boyfriend into a fight.

The boyfriend and his friend, a black male, allegedly were confronted by the three. After the confrontation, Callender was arrested. The report stated that Callender allegedly directed racial slurs toward the black man during the confrontation.

Venice Police CARS DAMAGED: Two cars were damaged on the McKinley Bridge Saturday when they ran over an exposed expansion joint.

According to police reports, officers were dispatched to the bridge at about 1:30 p.m. after one car lost two front tires and another suffered transmission damage when they struck the expansion joint in the eastbound lanes of the bridge.

An expansion joint allows the bridge to expand and contract due to heat and cold. However, this joint was jutting about half-foot above the pavement. The driver of the first car said that when he struck the exposed joint, both front tires blew out. After stopping, he got out of his car and tried to warn other drivers, but the second car struck the same spot.

Police said because it was a front-wheel drive vehicle, the transmission was lower and was damaged.

Both cars were towed from the scene, and damage estimates were unavailable.

Montgomery tries to get Warriors on track

Senior captain displays versatility for Granite City

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

Granite City captain Melissa Montgomery stands out on the field for the pigtails that sprout from the top of her hair and the frequent smiles that crinkle her face.

GIRLS SOCCER

But more than anything, Montgomery stands out for the athletic skill she possesses and talent that leads her coach to employ her in all cases where responsibility is required. Montgomery takes all of the important free kicks — whether they are in the offensive or defensive half — and plays every position on the field for the Warriors.

"Even in the game yesterday (against Belleville East), I played her at sweeper, I played her at midfield and I got her up front," Granite City coach Gene Baker said. "I think she will come through in the (state) tournament and get even better. I am trying to get her and a few others to turn it up a notch for the last few weeks of the regular season, improve conditioning, find a little more focus on games."

"Coach always tells me that I have to get everybody to talk, and I try," Montgomery said. "I try and make sure that everybody gets along and is ready to play before the game and comes out to win. And I try to score. We have set plays and he expects me to know them. He doesn't want to say specifically what we are going to do, so the other team doesn't know. So he'll say, 'Hold' or something, and tell somebody to get on the side, and then they will run around and I will just automatically know to kick the ball to them."

Montgomery is a confessed extrovert, but she is able to combine her outgoing personality with a strong sense of character on the field.

By Rick Broome

Tuesday's fierce winds provided bizarre conditions for soccer. But Belleville East managed to sneak a 2-1 victory against Granite City under the meteorological threshold.

GIRLS SOCCER

"We outplayed another team and got beat," Granite City coach Gene Baker said. "We are obviously very disappointed. We felt we outplayed them in the first half, even against the wind. And then we gave one away just through lack of attention, but it was all our fault. We are a good team and it is going to come out. It is going to show before it's over, I guarantee you."

The Lancers got a goal from Meghan Traggesser in the 36th minute to open the scoring. Belleville East struck again when Jessica Cresswell finished a pristine cross from Jill Hawanchak late in the second half.

Warriors captain Melissa Montgomery cut the deficit in half with a 14-yarder from the side of the box that squeezed through keeper Niki Delgado's hands and into goal with just two minutes remaining.

"My girls played well," Lancers coach Mark Lasley said. "We had a whole week off last week because we had the (Kirkwood, Mo.) Ursuline game got rained out and the Triad game got moved. So we were off for over a week and I knew we were going to be rusty. I just told the girls to work really hard and things would happen, and they did."

"We were a little bit sloppy. They pushed a lot of people forward, trying to create chances, and our backfield was kind of struggling to figure it all out and a lot of our midfield was trying to help them out. It just got a little

The Granite City tennis team was victorious in two matches this week — one for which they had planned and another which was a total surprise.

BOYS TENNIS

The Warriors beat Triad 4-3 Monday afternoon in St. Jacob and then topped Bethalto Civic Memorial 7-2 the next day.

"Triad was a good match for us," Granite City coach Allen Lobdell said. "They are a little stronger than they have been. Although they are not as deep as we are, it was at their place and they chose to play a 4-3 (four singles/three doubles), seven-point match. Their top four kids are fairly strong players, so we struggled in the singles," Lobdell said. Granite City's Andy Balcer won at No. 1 singles in straight sets and Jason Woodson won at No. 2 for the Warriors. Tim Knowlton and Eric Wright dropped their matches at the Nos. 3 and 4 singles spots.

"We split the singles 2-2," Lobdell said. "Jason had a pretty easy time with an opponent that was pretty good. That was a tough loss for Eric. He lost both sets in tiebreakers, so he lost 6-7, 6-7, which was tough. So it all came down to the doubles, we had to win two of the three doubles."

The Warriors did just that. Balcer and Knowlton teamed up in the No. 1 spot to win while Matt Davis and Jared McMillan took the No. 3 doubles match to clinch the victory for Granite City.

"It was scary for a while, but we managed to pull that one out," Lobdell said. Tuesday's match was a surprise pairing with Civic Memorial, a match that the Warriors had scheduled for May 11. When the Warriors hit the courts to take team photos, they found a flock of Eagles ready for a contest.

"It was some kind of scheduling mishap, but we went ahead and played," Lobdell said. "This one, we played a 6-3 format because we played at our place and we like to do that."

"Andy won at singles in straight sets over a senior who had beaten him badly the year before. For Andy, it showed the kind of improvement that he is going through over the last year. We were really impressed, because we thought that that might be a close match."

Knowlton won in the No. 3 slot, but Woodson and Wright lost their singles matches to leave the teams squared at two apiece.

"In the top four, if we had played a 4-3, it would have been another split, as we had with Triad," Lobdell said. "But this time, since we played the 6-3 format, I had Jared McMillan at No. 5 and Harry Painter at No. 6; and at 5 and 6, they are fairly strong players. So we won both."

"We had gotten four wins out of the six singles matches and that gave us a 4-2 lead so far. Then we started doubles. The opposing coach had some boys that had to leave and couldn't play, so I took Andy out of the doubles and made some weird pairings, thinking of course that we had this match in the bag. It proceeded at 1, 2 and 3 doubles to

Warriors rally to win with 12 runs in two innings

Granite City needed a few innings to get untracked before pounding East St. Louis 15-5 at home Tuesday.

PREP BASEBALL

The Warriors scored three runs in the bottom of the second inning to take an early lead, but the Flyers came back with five in the top of the third.

Granite City held the Flyers scoreless the rest of the way while scoring 12 runs in the fourth and fifth innings. Warriors first baseman Matt Pistorius went 3 for 3 with three runs batted in. Centerfielder Kevin Elliott was 2 for 4, driving in two runs. Aaron Hoback, Matt Mercer, Shawn O'Dell and Scott Schardan all were 2 for 3.

"The score was pretty even early," Granite City assistant coach Daren DePew said. "They didn't handle the ball in the field very well. They made some errors, we hit the ball around a little bit. The wind was blowing because of the storm coming in and it was a huge factor in the game. There were some situations where they made plays because of the wind and we made plays because of the wind. On the other side, it was where we didn't make plays because of the wind."

The massive run support backstopped Sean Courtney's solid effort on the mound. "We played pretty well," DePew said. "We played solid defensively. They had hits, they hit the ball, it wasn't as though we were making errors. So they moved the ball around a little bit. Sean Courtney did a good job. He was throwing strikes and he is always going to be around the plate, so that gives us a chance to win. He is always throwing strikes, so anything they get, they have to earn when Sean is pitching, and that's important."

The Warriors face Southwestern Conference foe Belleville West at home today. "We played West tough up there last time and lost 2-1. We played a good ballgame," DePew said. "We faced a good team today. Duabach, their left-hander, and we had our share of hits. I think we had five hits off of him. It was a well-played ballgame. We even matched. I expect the same thing today. We just have to make the plays and hopefully we will get some balls to drop in. We hit some balls hard last game and at people. Hopefully, those will drop in and we can score some runs. We have made a few changes and hopefully we'll benefit from them. As long as the kids continue to swing the bat, we'll be all right."

"We are scoring more runs now than we were earlier in the year, which is making a big difference, because we can overcome some of our mistakes by scoring more runs. So we have to keep that up. It gives the pitchers more confidence and we have had some kids throwing well for us lately. Sean Courtney has been one that has been very steady. Devin Mayes has thrown well, Scott Schardan is working out."

"Our pitching is getting a little stronger."

James nabs 2nd consecutive win

Driver breezes past Winston pack, seven caution flags

Terry James survived seven caution flags Saturday and breezed to his second straight NASCAR Winston Racing Series Budweiser Late Model victory at Tri-City Speedway.

Pole-sitter David Bardin led the pack into turn one at the start, but second-row starter Bubba Smith took the lead away down the back stretch. Smith held sway for two laps until Mark Freeman and Paul Schrempf tangled in lap three. Smith led on the restart but promptly smacked the guardrail in turn one, bringing out another caution flag.

James inherited the lead and blasted to a 20-length lead on Bardin and Craig Smith. Smith spun out, bringing out another caution flag, but James again blew away the field for a 20-length lead. Three more cautions also did not stop James, who crossed the line ahead of John Dickerman and Bardin.

The qualifying heats went to Terry McLintock and Craig Smith.

Rick L. Stevenson won his second consecutive Quaker State Modified main. He led every lap, with Tim Barrett finishing second and Gary Hall placing third.

The qualifiers were won by Wes Weisman, Josh Carroll and Rick Jones. Bill Laycock won the semi.

Josh Carroll won the Mountain Dew Street Stock main, grabbing the lead from Pat Chalmers on lap two and never looking back. Gary Walker and Wade Glover chased Carroll across the line for second and third respectively.

The qualifiers went to B.J. Seets, Glover and Jim Burgess. Ken Kaminski grabbed the semi.

Chris Sale won his first career Pepsi Generation Next Charger feature, topping Randy Branch and Scott Rainey. The previous week's feature winner, Bob Capps, won the qualifier.

The duo of Jim Murphy and Gary Quigley won the Saturday Night Cruiser main, defeating the tandem teams of Larry and Ben Thompson and Daryl Buder and Dan Buck.

Buder and Buck won the qualifier.

Gateway results

The points race for the 1999 bracket drag racing season began Saturday at Gateway International Raceway.

The number of rounds raced determines the number of parents. Each winner per round receives 10 points. The winner of the final round receives an additional three bonus points.

The Super Pro race opened the night. Greg Sesti of Ferguson, Mo., acquired 73 points to lead the pack of local winners.

Scott, in his 1966 Chevy II, posted a time of 8.458 seconds (dial-in time 8.46) and a top speed of 156.23 mph. Sesti defeated Tom Williams of Alton, who posted a time of 10.138 seconds (dial-in time 10.08) and a top speed of 131.05 mph.

Chuck DeMoulin of Hazelwood, Mo., jumped in front of the points race with 73 in the Pro E.T. category. In his 1971 Camaro, DeMoulin outran Brad Kutzer of Fairview Heights, also in a Camaro. DeMoulin had an elapsed time of 11.240 seconds (dial-in time 11.23) and a top speed of 119.08 mph.

In the Street E.T. race, John Anderson of St. Louis started the season with a victory against last year's points leader, Hank Cullen of Kirkwood, Mo. Anderson, in his 1972 Vega, had a top speed of 109.19 mph and an elapsed time of 4.72 (dial-in time 4.72). Anderson picked up 73 points.

Tim Schaefer of Hazelwood won the pro bike category. Schaefer had a top speed of 134.46 mph and an elapsed time of 9.780 (dial-in time 9.80) with his 1992 Suzuki to defeat Chris Theusch of Overland.

Tyler Breitrag of O'Fallon won the junior drag on his 1997 Motivational. He posted an elapsed time of 9.952 seconds (dial-in time 9.94) and a top speed of 63.49 mph. Casey Beckmeyer of Hoytson finished second.

Skipper hopes SIUE hits hot streak

Cougars preparing for Great Lakes Valley Conference tourney

By Steve Porter
Staff writer

Bo Collins has a wanted poster prepared for this weekend's Great Lakes Valley Conference Tournament in Quincy.

COLLEGE BASEBALL

The Southern Illinois University Edwardsville baseball coach is searching for a few timely hits. Any Cougar is welcome to apply and contribute.

"Our pitching has been consistent, but we just need to get some clutch hits," Collins said. "We haven't been putting them together lately."

SIUE (36-17) and the second-place finisher in the GLVC South, meets North champion Indianapolis (36-15) at 3:30 Friday in the opening game at Quincy University.

The host Hawks (40-8), champs of the GLVC South, take on Saint Joseph's of Rensselaer, Ind. (32-17) at 7 Friday night. Quincy went 24-3 in GLVC play. SIUE was 17-8.

The double elimination tournament continues Saturday and concludes Sunday. The winner and possibly the runner-up will land berths in next weekend's NCAA Division II Regional. The regional survivor advances to the College World Series.

"It's possible that we could be meeting Quincy both this weekend and next week," Collins said. And if the Cougars

"We're not a home-run hitting team, but we could be dangerous in Quincy because it's a small park. I'm hoping that guys like Dawson and Bigger will get red-hot and that will pick up everybody else."

Bo Collins

are fortunate enough, they could play host to the regional.

But first things first. The Cougars intend to start quickly against Indianapolis, a team they swept (6-1, 9-0) earlier this season at Lee Field. Either Aaron Rakers or Ryan Cox will be on the mound in the opener, with the other pitcher programmed for Game 2.

If SIUE and Quincy both win Friday, they'll square off at 3:30 Saturday in what could be the tournament's most pivotal game. Quincy already owns three wins over SIUE — and all three came at the Hawks' field.

"In every game, they beat us late, once on a pop-fly home run," Collins said.

However, he's not begrudging Quincy's fortunes. The Hawks emerged as the GLVC's best success story during the regular season.

"They've done everything better than most people thought they would do," he said. "They've had a tremendous year in winning 40 games. They've really played together well and played above their talent level."

SIUE's talent starts with pitching. Cox is 11-7, with an earned run average of 1.74. Rakers is 11-6 with an ERA of 1.94. No. 3 starter Brian Matzenbacher is 11-5 with an ERA of 2.82. And Corey Blackwell is 9-5, with a 2.70 ERA.

"You won't find a better No. 4 starter in the league than Blackwell," Collins said. Jared Wood, 6-3, with a 3.72 ERA, and Jason Guest, 1-2 with an ERA of 3.32, man the bullpen.

Outfielders Travis Dawson (.400) and Dave Crouthers (.356), third baseman Mark Bigger (.356) and catcher Ryan Collins (.332) are the Cougars' top hitters.

Crouthers, a freshman from Edwardsville, has a team-best 50 RBI. Bigger, another Edwardsville product, has hit three home runs and driven in 44 runs. The Cougars have hit only 10 home runs in 32 games.

"We're not a home-run hitting team, but we could be dangerous in Quincy because it's a small park," Collins said. "I'm hoping that guys like Dawson and Bigger will get red-hot and that will pick up everybody else."

Tigers post another win vs. Lutz

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

Collinsville High pitcher Kenny Lutz is snakebitten when it comes to the Edwardsville Tigers.

PREP BASEBALL

Lutz, one of the top prep pitchers in the St. Louis area, never has posted a victory against the Tigers. He fell to 0-4 on Tuesday afternoon as the Kahoks fell 4-2 to the Tigers at the Edwardsville Sports Complex.

Collinsville coach Steve McFall said Lutz deserved a better fate Tuesday. Only two of the runs against Lutz were earned.

"He threw it well enough for us to win," McFall said. "We just didn't get it done. There is nothing else to say. I give them plenty of credit for winning but I give us plenty of credit for giving it away too."

The decision dropped Collinsville to 14-4 overall and 5-3 in the Southwest Conference. Edwardsville (19-4) improved to 7-1 in the SWC and remained tied with Belleville East for the league lead.

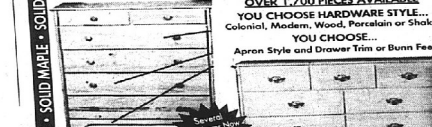

Shaky defense by the Kahoks in the fifth inning doomed Lutz's four-hitter. The Kahoks were leading 3-2 when two fielding miscues and a wild pitch by Lutz allowed the Tigers to score the tying and winning runs.

Collinsville blanks Edwardsville in SWC showdown

LeMaster scores one goal, assists on another as Kahoks pin second conference loss on Tigers

By Adam Roe
Staff writer

Collinsville's Cara LeMaster registered a goal and an assist to lead the Kahoks to a 4-0 Southwestern Conference victory against the Edwardsville Tigers.

Collinsville came at the Tigers (10-3 overall, 1-2 in SWC play) with strong offensive pressure from the outset of the game. Collinsville camped in Edwardsville's side of the field for the majority of the contest and the Kahoks fullbacks kept Edwardsville from threatening the Kahoks net.

"I think we controlled the middle of the field going both ways," LeMaster said after the game. "We were able to take out their best players in the middle and we were just able to control the entire game. This was like a must-win game for us to try and get some home-field advantage (for the postseason)."

"It also always feels good to beat Edwardsville, no matter what sport it is."

Edwardsville sophomore Lindsay Anderson said she thought Collinsville's style of play was instrumental in keeping the Tigers off balance.

"We weren't used to their defense pulling up that much," Anderson said. "We got called offsides a couple of times. I don't know, I don't think we were as competitive as we should have been."

Anderson went on to explain why Collinsville was successful stopping Edwardsville's strikers.

"They (Collinsville) have a lot of speed on their defensive end," she said. "They matched up with our front-runners pretty well."

Heather Holland supplied

Collinsville's first goal, early in the contest. Edwardsville goalie Lauren Hahn overplayed the ball and Holland converted on a shot from approximately 30 yards out. The Kahoks grabbed one more goal before the end of the half when LeMaster crossed the ball from the right side of the field to Amanda Kirksey, who was five yards from the goal. Kirksey headed the ball into the net and Collinsville took a 2-0 lead.

"We pushed forward and made Edwardsville come out at us," Collinsville coach Deana Wallace said. "We tried to open up the field and play to feed, which was helpful today because of the wind."

The Kahoks continued to roll with two more goals in the second half, LeMaster's being the final tally.

"They outmatch us in terms of athleticism and soccer awareness from just an experience standpoint," Edwardsville coach Mark

"We pushed forward and made Edwardsville come out at us. We tried to open up the field and play to feed, which was helpful today because of the wind."

Deana Wallace
Collinsville coach

Schwarzkopf said. "I think that is what gave them the edge they needed this game. I thought we had chances to get into the game and unfortunately we couldn't."

"I just look at it from the viewpoint that they are still slowly at a level above ours, but that's going to change. I guarantee you, that will change."

Montgomery shows versatility, leadership for Granite City squad

That combination also helped her earn a four-year scholarship from Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville.

"She is in the National Honor Society, she is a very good student," Baker said. "She also has a very positive, upbeat personality, a good sense of humor. That is such a good part of our team. Inherently, she knows when to laugh, when to work, those things come naturally to her. I enjoy seeing that in an athlete, and it's a little more unique to a female athlete. But she has been a lot of fun to coach, and the other players including the other teams — really respect her. She has some gamesmanship that comes with time, that would come with many games with other girls. I think, in her, it's pretty natural."

Montgomery is following in the footsteps of her older sister, Michelle, who graduated from Granite City High School in 1997 and landed at SIUE. Michelle's impact on the Granite City soccer program helped pave the way for Melissa, who was selected to the all-state team last year as a defender.

"Coach knew her and so he knew me," Montgomery said. "It makes me feel good that he can trust me. In college I just want to have fun. I want to win, of course, but I want it to be fun. It is going to be a totally different experience, I know, but I think it is going to be neat. It's going to be fun playing with my sister."

"I think she will make a terrific

"I'm going to try to get the girls to come ready to play, because some of them it just seems like they don't care. I'll do what I can to try and get them ready."

Melissa Montgomery

college player for (SIUE coach) Brian Korbesmeyer, just like her sister," Baker said. "The differences are that Michelle is left-footed, Melissa is right-footed. Melissa has the potential to be a little bit of a stronger defender. She needs to put on a little weight and hit the weights to get a little stronger to sustain the college season. But I think they are going to get a terrific young lady who can play. She is very coachable."

For now, Montgomery is focused on her final campaign with the Warriors and that means trying to lead the team to the promised land in the postseason. In a season of injury, suspension and dreams deferred, Montgomery has been the brightest light on the field.

"I'm going to try to get the girls to come ready to play, because some of them it just seems like they don't care," Montgomery said. "I'll do what I can to try and get them ready and talk, because that's what Coach wants. We have a good team and when we do come to play we are really good. We did great in the St.

Dominic's Tournament (the St. Dominic/Howell North Shootout in St. Charles, Mo., in which the Warriors made the semifinal round). We have done real well getting through everything." "I think she has really been a joy to coach because she is such a strong competitor," Baker said. "Some of the traits that I really admire in her are her courage, her loyalty and her honesty."

"We are working on her assuming more leadership. She has been a strong captain by example and I need her to make her competitiveness more contagious. She has been doing everything but air up the balls for us. I keep telling her that that's probably going to have to increase. She is going to have to do more as we have undergone injuries and suspensions. She has responded so well to always play a strong game."

THE LAW AND YOU

By RICK REED

Attorney At Law

Let's assume that a father of two children is ordered to pay $50 per week in child support in a divorce decree. When the older child reaches the age of 18, can the father take it upon himself to reduce his payments of child support from $50 per week to $25 per week?

The law in Illinois regarding the unilateral modification of a lump-sum periodic payment of child support is well established. It is true that Illinois law provides that a father's legal obligation to support his child ceases upon the child's becoming emancipated. However, the parent furnishing support to more than one child in the form of a lump-sum periodic payment cannot on his own reduce his payment when the first child becomes emancipated. Such action requires court approval.

In the case noted above, a husband and wife were divorced in 1977. The wife was awarded custody of the parties' two children, ages 13 and 8. The divorce decree provided that the father was to pay $50 per week support for the parties' two minor children. When the older child reached the age of 18, the father on his own reduced his payment of child support from $50 per week to $25 per week. The mother accepted this reduced payment for five years, but she filed a post-decree petition in 1987 contending that her ex-husband was delinquent in his child support. The father argued that he was within his right in reducing his child support, and he also maintained that the mother had actual knowledge and had acquiesced in the reduction of child support by not filing a petition for arrears for five years. The Appellate Court found that the former husband had no right to unilaterally reduce his child support obligation without court approval. Therefore, it was found that there was a child support arrangement.

The Court felt that an automatic reduction of child support, such as here, prevents the Court from reviewing these matters on a case by case basis. In a given case, the court may not allow the father a pro-rata reduction if the needs of the remaining minor child have increased. In any event, it is probably wise for a supporting parent to consult with his or her attorney at the time of emancipation.

Lancers pin loss on Warriors

crazy, a little sloppy and a little windy."

The Lancers didn't spend much time in the offensive end but took advantage of the chances that they had.

"We put the first chance in," Lasley said. "The ball was bouncing around and Meghan Traeger just kept working, and kept working, and her third chance finally went in. Then that other chance was a real pretty one."

For the second game in a row, Baker thought the Warriors should have received a penalty kick when Keri Ousley was taken down in the area late in the game.

"We had a clear-cut penalty kick coming," Baker said. "One guy said he didn't see it, and he was being honest, and the other guy said he thought she slipped. It's really something to take. I think that we got officials that came into the game, these are good guys. I credit them. I think they are gentlemen, they are a credit to the game. But we are either going to have to play a certain way or the referees are going to have to call it. They get away with some things, fine, but we are going to have to answer."

The Warriors kept potent Lancers senior Christen Seaman — who has bagged 25 goals this spring — and a scholarship to the University of West Virginia — off the scoreboard. But Granite City also had three players pick up yellow cards.

"I think we held Seaman, and she is real dangerous, she is a good soccer player," Baker said. "We got (Felicia) Mohsen back now and she is awfully good. We just have to come out ready to play. We are capable of it, but we are going to have to make it happen pretty soon."

"What's wild is that if you look at that game and you ask somebody who was standing there who is not affiliated with the teams they would probably say, 'Yeah, Granite seemed to get a lot better of the play. And what was the score? It was 2-0 late. And what about the cards? Well, Granite had three cards, but Belleville East is a pretty physical team and physical is a euphemism. My problem is that as a coach I need to do something about that and I'm not doing a very good job on that.'"

The Lancers improved to 14-1 and remained unbeaten in the Southwestern Conference race. The Lancers already have beaten Collinsville, winning the SWC test in overtime, and have lost only to St. Charles (Mo.) West.

"Being able to beat Collinsville, Granite and O'Fallon — we feel real good," Lasley said. "Those are three tough teams that are always hard to beat and I'm ecstatic about that and we have beaten all three of them, I really am."

Granite City fell to 6-4 overall and 3-2 in the conference. The Warriors host Alton tonight at Chatham Glenwood on Saturday.

lose the first set in all three matches.

"So now that the match is on the line, all three doubles teams come back to win the second set and the match is still up in the air. As it turns out, all three doubles teams won the third set, and it looks on paper like an easy win 7-2 against this team — and it isn't true."

"It was a great opportunity for these kids to experience some real pressure when the match is on the line. It turned out great. I could have come away with a little egg on my face, but I lucked out."

Allen Lobdell
GCHS coach

"It was a great opportunity for these kids to experience some real pressure when the match is on the line. It turned out great. I could have come away with a little egg on my face, but I lucked out."

The Warriors are in the midst of, weather permitting, a busy schedule.

"All next week, we have one open day — Tuesday — and then the rest is filled," Lobdell said. "We have two solid weeks of pretty intense play and we will either make us or break us. We will either be much the better for all the experience or we'll be frustrated and not produce. But it rarely turns out to be like that."

"I think we will be more than ready for the Southwestern Conference Tournament two weeks from now. Then the following week, we will get a little bit of rest and be ready for the sectionals (May 22). Right now, we are starting to focus on that match three weeks from now."

Motel fire termed 'suspicious'

By Steve Whitworth
Staff writer

A Tuesday morning fire that destroyed a motel under construction in Troy is considered suspicious, especially because a similar fire destroyed an unfinished motel there in 1997, and is under investigation.

The fire was reported shortly before 1 a.m. at the Red Roof Inn under construction in the 2000 block of North Formosa Road. The building sits on the northeast corner of the intersection of Illinois 162 and Interstates 55-70. The motel was engulfed in flames when firefighters arrived on the scene, said

Troy Fire Chief James Hampton.

"The roof was coming in when we arrived," Hampton said. "It was a total ball of fire."

Troy firefighters called in an aerial ladder truck from the Collinsville Fire Department and a pumper truck from the Maryville Fire Department to help fight the fire, the chief said.

"I had everything we have at the scene," he said.

The Marine Fire Department also sent a pumper to Troy to cover the fire station there during the motel fire.

The fire was extinguished in about 90 minutes, but firefighters remained on the scene until about 4 p.m. to prevent any hot spots from flaring up. The building was a total loss.

The adjacent Ramada Inn Limited under construction a few yards away sustained fire and water damage, Hampton said. He said the neighboring motel suffered structural damage but was salvageable.

The Illinois State Fire Marshal's Office and the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms were called in to investigate the fire, which Hampton termed "suspicious."

"We consider it suspicious because it was a building under construction," the fire chief said.

Storytelling Festival at Mounds

Cherokee stories and legends to be presented Saturday afternoon

Cahokia Mounds State Historic Site will participate in the 20th annual St. Louis Storytelling Festival Saturday, starting at 2 p.m.

Gayle Ross, of Cherokee ancestry, will present a program of stories and legends relating to her heritage. The Cahokia Mounds program is free and open to the public, and will be held in the Interpretive Center auditorium.

The festival, held at many venues throughout the metropolitan area, is sponsored by the University of Missouri-St. Louis.

Other upcoming events at the Mounds include Kid's Day, one of Cahokia Mound's largest events. It will be held Sunday, May 16, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. outside the Interpretive Center. In case of rain, activities will be moved inside.

There will be many hands-on activities for kids of all ages, including making arrowheads and pinch pots, grinding corn with stones or a wooden mortar and pestle, playing Indian games, throwing spears with an atlatl, making shell beads, and face painting with prehistoric Indian designs.

There will be an exhibit of animal hides and tracks, live birds of prey from the World Bird Sanctuary, and performances by the Kahok Dancers. This free event is an ideal family outing and learning experience for all.

The spring Nature/Culture Hike will be held Sunday, May 23, from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. An archaeologist and a naturalist will lead hikers along trails through grassland, woodland and wetland settings, discussing Indian uses of the plants and animals seen along the trail, as well as any mounds and archaeological excavations encountered. The event is free and open to the public. Hikers should dress for the weather and bring something to drink. The hike will be canceled if it is raining.

A new exhibit, "Transportation Archaeology," opens in May and can be viewed at Cahokia Mounds through September.

'Gigi' now coming to Looking Glass stage

Musical opens eight-day run in Lebanon tonight

By Becky Garrison
Staff writer

The Looking Glass Playhouse opens the final production of its silver anniversary season tonight with a performance of the award-winning musical "Gigi."

"Gigi" is one of Lerner and Lowe's most famous collaborations and is unique in that the stage production was written following the incredible success of the film version.

"Gigi" is a coming of age story set in Paris at the turn of the 20th century. Audiences will remember the film featuring Leslie Caron and Maurice Chevalier as well as one of the classic songs of the era "Thank Heaven for Little Girls."

Cast members for the Looking Glass Playhouse come from all walks of life and are residents of St. Clair, Clinton and Madison counties. Cassandra Zuger is featured in the title role as Gigi with Greg Yank, Erin Moore, Vicki Durham, Joe Vander Vennet, and Suzanne Boyle in supporting roles.

Director Gigi Dowling-Urban said the lead character and the actress portraying her have something in common.

"Cassie will graduate from high school in late May and will give the character an amount of genuineness that only a 17-year-old can," Dowling-Urban said.

Dowling-Urban said that Zuger has been involved with LGP productions since she was 7 or 8 years old and that this is her first time in a title role.

"We've seen her grow up and blossom into a beautiful young woman," she said.

Production dates are May 6-9 and 13-16. Performances are Thursday through Saturday at 7:30 p.m. with Sunday matinees at 2 p.m.

Ticket prices are $7.50, with special discounts available on selected dates for senior citizens and students.

Group ticket prices are also available for parties of 12 or more.

Ticket reservations may be made by contacting the LGP ticket recorder at 537-4962. For additional information about the play, directions to the theater, show times or audition information, contact the LGP ticket reservation office at 537-4962.

Pledge will help in park's reforestation effort

St. Louis' Peabody Group donates $250,000 to help restoration; 2,000 trees to be planted

By Clayton Berry
Staff writer

A St. Louis-based coal company is continuing to make good on a $250,000 pledge to further the restoration of Forest Park. Peabody Group, the world's largest coal company, last week donated $50,000 to Forest Park Forever, the non-profit group working to restore the city's largest park. It was the third installment on Peabody's pledge.

Peabody's continuing assistance will help plant about 2,000 trees in the park as part of the five-year master plan.

"One of the major features of the master plan is to reforest the park with 7,500 trees," said Lee Anna Good, a Forest Park Forever spokeswoman. "So their contribution will make a significant dent in that."

This year, Peabody also donated 500 trowels, small digging tools, for the Flora Foundation. The program was initiated by Forest Park manager Anabeth Calkins. Master gardeners have been training volunteers to work in the park, and they will be able to use the donated tools, Calkins said.

"They're playing a dual role," Calkins said. "And they have great civic concerns. They are out here on an annual basis with volunteer efforts also."

Peabody Group routinely plants trees and other vegetation when it restores land following mining operations. About 25 million trees have been planted since 1984.

"We consider our donation an investment for enhancing and preserving Forest Park for generations to come," said John M. Woollen, vice president of technology and environment.

Peabody's contribution is a forerunner of a new campaign for Forest Park Forever. The group has initiated a major push to get donations from corporations not affiliated with Civic Progress. Last fall, the Danforth Foundation challenged Forest Park Forever officials that if they gained $10 million from those companies, the foundation would provide another $5 million for the restoration of the park.

In addition, business contributors of $100,000 or more can gain tax credits of up to 50 percent of the donated amount from the state.

"This is a category of funders that has taken on new momentum in recent months," Good said. "The participation of these companies is going to be essential to our success."

The restoration is projected to cost $86 million, an expense being split by Forest Park Forever and the city. The private group has passed the halfway mark with $24 million raised so far.

Gift helps children learn about trees

Some children at the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Early Childhood Center are involved in a shady deal.

The tots are learning about trees while having fun after a tree was donated to their school on Arbor Day, April 30.

"They're really excited about it. They were out watering it today, and they'll have some shade on the playground this summer," said Lavern Wilson, center director.

The tree is a gift of the center's graduating Class of 1999. The seedless ash tree is marked by a plaque at its base.

The gift was incorporated into the children's recent lessons about the signs of spring and planting.

"Stephanie Henschen, the teacher in the classroom, mentioned to me that the playground area was in need of a shade tree," said Laura Scaturro, mother of one of the children.

"My first reaction, of course, was let's just plant a tree. However, I thought about it further, and, since my daughter was in the graduating class of '99, I thought it would be fitting if the class got together, donated a few dollars, dug a bit in the dirt and presented a gift of a tree back to the school," Scaturro said.

She said some of the children have been at the school since age 2, and the center has been a home away from home.

"The center has been so educationally rewarding to our children, I thought we should give something permanent back to the school," Scaturro said.

Arbor Day was a natural choice for planting the tree, she said.

It is a nationally celebrated observance that encourages tree planting and tree care.

The graduating class of students ages 4 and 5 are in their final year of preschool and will be heading off to begin their kindergarten classes, Wilson said.

Connery returns in action thriller

By Ronnie Roy
Staff writer

"Entrapment" is an entertaining action thriller with two engaging stars but a few too many plot twists.

MOVIE REVIEW

The film opens with a daring robbery of a Rembrandt painting from a New York high-rise office building. Insurance investigator Gin Baker (Catherine Zeta-Jones) is convinced the heist is the work of master thief Robert MacDougal (Sean Connery).

Gin convinces her boss, Hector Cruz (Will Patton), to let her go undercover to catch Mac. He's concerned because the last two men to go after Mac were never seen again, but she's convinced he'll be taken in by her feminine charms.

Gin tells Mac the theft of the mask — worth millions — was just to obtain an object that would help with a bigger theft — worth billions.

They then fly off to Kuala Lumpur, for a scheme involving, of all things, the Y2K millennium bug.

A major bank there will be testing its computer equipment, and a 30-second window will allow the duo to hack into the computer and send a message to several major corporations to send money to a certain account. Unnoticeable amounts to the corporations, but they add up to billions of dollars.

Before the final act begins, it's time for a few more plot twists. What is Thibadeaux up to? What does Mac mean when he says, as he's finally giving in to temptation with Gin, that his situation is "complicated."

No time to ponder these incidents, it's time to rob a bank. At this point the film falls apart, with over-the-top action sequences and an ending with so many twists and turns it feels like it was written by a pretzel maker.

Hurricane Harbor blows in

Hurricane Harbor, a 12-acre water park, is the largest single capital investment and expansion in Six Flags St. Louis' 28-year history.

The $17 million water park is to open late this spring and boasts six complexes representing 12 attractions.

Set amid sand, palm trees and a variety of tropical plants, the water park features three high-speed body slides, four unique inner-tube slides, a family raft ride, a 30,000-square-foot wave pool, an adventure river and an interactive family fun zone.

Hurricane Harbor also includes a changing and showering facility, restrooms, lockers, a gift shop and a restaurant.

It is open daily late spring through Aug. 22, and weekends Aug. 28 through Sept. 6 (Labor Day), weather permitting. The water park opens at 10 a.m., closing times vary.

Six Flags limits admittance to Hurricane Harbor to availability and capacity limitations.

Six Flags St. Louis is owned by Six Flags Theme Parks, part of Premier Parks Inc., the world's largest regional theme park company with a total of 31 parks in the United States and Europe.

Six Flags parks serve 16 of the 25 largest metropolitan areas in the United States. The parks annually host nearly 40 million guests worldwide.

Premier Parks is a publicly held corporation with corporate offices in New York and Oklahoma City. The company's stock trades on the NYSE under the symbol: PKS.

In 1999, Six Flags will offer several new attractions including nine new live productions; a Go-Kart facility; a catering facility; and Hurricane Harbor, a 12-acre water park.

All of Six Flags' current attractions and Hurricane Harbor are included in the park's one-day admission. Six Flags also has begun a new Kid's Always Half-Price ticket structure for children 48 inches and under.

Six Flags' main gate price of $31.99 is the same as in 1998. Beginning this year, children 48 inches and under are half-price off the main gate ticket everyday. Access to the park's rides and attractions is based on height.

Small roles often lead to big ones

Cameo appearances enliven many movies

Trivia

An actor does not need to put in much screen time to make an impact on a movie. Look at Judi Dench, the recent Oscar winner as Best Supporting Actress for her performance in "Shakespeare in Love." She was in the picture about eight minutes. I did not feel she deserved to win, but, I have to admit that she grabs your attention while she is in the movie.

A small part by a famous actor can enliven a film. A great example of this is Alec Baldwin's brief appearance in "Glengarry Glen Ross" as a company executive who blows into a real estate office and threatens everyone's jobs. He is terrific as a cold, nasty corporate hatchet man.

Bill Murray has made the most out of a number of small roles. He adds some great lines to "Caddyshack," "Tootsie," "Ed Wood" and "Wild Things," among other pictures.

To me, Jon Lovitz steals "A League of Their Own" with his too little screen time as baseball scout. His scenes are hilarious. John Cleese can be funny merely by standing and smirking, and his minor appearances in "Silverado" and "The Out-of-Towners" are the best moments in those flicks.

In addition, cameo appearances, where someone famous shows up for a moment in a movie, can be fun to discover. The cameo does not necessarily need to be by an actor.

Director Alfred Hitchcock had a habit of making brief appearances in his films. One

9. What rock singer plays the nasty mother of a teenage brat in "Hairspray"?

10. What actor plays Jack Lemmon's father in the "Grumpy Old Men" films?

ANSWERS: 1. Huey Lewis. 2. Mel Gibson. 3. Green Bay quarterback Brett Favre. 4. Brad Pitt, who is a riot in the role. 5. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. 6. Gene Hackman. He spills soup in the monster's lap and sets his thumb on fire while trying to light a cigar. 7. Charlton Heston. 8. "Cabin Boy." Apparently, I was one of the few people in the country who enjoyed this flick. 9. Debbie Harry of Blondie. Sonny Bono plays her husband in the movie. 10. Burgess Meredith, who is a kick as the old man who lives off of bacon and beer.

Laumeier Art Fair this weekend

Event recognized as one of nation's best

By Scott Hickey
Staff writer

It will be a study in the art of having fun this weekend at Laumeier Sculpture Park's 12th annual Contemporary Art Fair.

Showcasing the works of 150 artists from across the country, this year's art fair is expected to eclipse last year's crowd of 21,000, said Peter Smith, a spokesman for Laumeier.

Colorful pinwheels will dot the entrance and grounds of the park to highlight the theme of this year's fair: "Pinwheel Parade," Smith said.

The fair, sponsored by Emerson Electric, opens at 4 p.m. on Friday, May 7 with the Smash Band kicking out tunes in "Laumeier's Outdoor Ultra Lounge with the New Mix 93.7 FM." Combining "art and talent with music and martinis and cuisine," opening night will be an opportunity for early-bird shoppers, Smith said.

There will be no shortage of fun at the fair all weekend with music, food and drinks. Families also will enjoy the "Creation Location," an area for creative learning for all ages, Smith said.

A pair of nationally known art magazines, Sunshine Artist Magazine and Art Fair Source Book, recognize Laumeier's Contemporary Art Fair as one of the top art annual fairs in the country, Smith said.

Visitors may park at the General Motors Training Center, located at Rott Road and South Lindbergh Boulevard, or at the office parking lot, 3555 Sunset Office Drive in Sunset Hills. A complimentary shuttle service will be offered from those lots. Valet parking is available for $5, Smith said.

Hours for the three-day fair are 4 to 8 p.m. on Friday, May 7; 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Saturday, May 8; and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday, May 9.

Admission to the art fair is $3 for adults, $2 for children ages 6 through 11 and free to children ages 5 and under and to all park members, Smith said.

For more information about the art fair or other park programs, call 821-1209.

Horoscope

THURSDAY, MAY 6
Neptune appears stationary, lending an improved sense of focus on the truly important things in life. Take time to meditate — as we reach for higher understanding and compassion, ego quests become less important. Tonight, the moon bids farewell to cool Capricorn and embraces the philosophical Aquarian realm.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (May 6). Love walks into your life — couples become more intimate, and singles find magnetic romance this month. The truly ambitious make extra money in June. Some marry, move or buy homes in August. As the year closes, your credit picture brightens. By December, an inheritance makes a difference, so study investments and savings plans. Your best signs for love are Scorpio and Aquarius.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). You are the star at work. Set limits before there can be any misunderstandings. Your creativity appeals to an elect few now, but you should feel flattered, as these people are notoriously hard to please.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). It's better to keep quiet about all you know, as certain people take things the wrong way. Intuition could be telling you to make a new start. A friend's mistake can enlighten you. A Sagittarius has eyes for you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). You have plenty of get-up-and-go! Try doing something the way it was suggested; it's time to listen and serve rather than run the show. An upcoming trip is delayed, which is lucky in the long run.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). It's time to admit it if you were wrong; a friend will be glad you're back. Ideas blossom into moneymakers. A partner's habits get on your nerves, but this person probably makes up for it in other ways.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Game-playing proves very costly; settle disputes out in the open. A casual relationship turns hot and heavy. Libras respect you and want to represent your talents. A kind elder solves a financial problem. Curtail your temper.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Your energy is plentiful. If your new love has a different attitude toward money than you, think carefully before committing to him or her. You'll get advice you didn't ask for today; smile and say thanks, then do what you want.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). No longer is your work ignored,

'Corruptor' is violent, disappointing film

By Brian Kaller
Staff writer

Fans of the Hong Kong action genre and its biggest star, Chow Yun Fat, will be sorely disappointed with Fat's latest American movie, "The Corruptor."

MOVIE REVIEW

Fat plays Nick Chen, a decorated Chinese-American detective assigned to patrol Chinatown. Increasing gang violence leads him to request more staff, but to his surprise his new partner, Wallace (Mark Wahlberg), is young, inexperienced, and white. Chen is not pleased with his new partner, but decides to look after him and show him the ropes. At the same time, he must conceal his longtime links with the Triad mob family, who give him bribes, women and hot tips in exchange for safety. But Wahlberg knows far more than he lets on, and as he and Chen grow closer, Chen becomes less sure of his loyalties.

With predictable improbability, Wallace's first arrest of a Chinese gang also nets an undercover FBI agent. Another FBI agent wants to harass Wallace and destroy Chen, for obscure reasons. Chen and Wallace must protect an old man named Uncle Benny with mob ties (Kim Chan). (Lethal Weapon fans may recall that in the fourth of that series, Chan also played an elderly Chinese man named Uncle Benny whose business is actually a front for the Chinese mob.) At one point, Wallace reveals he speaks Chinese, a fact that is forgotten during the rest of the film.

Through it all, Chen and Wallace undergo many bonding by gambling together, shooting gang members together and sharing prostitutes.

The premise of police corruption is interesting, as is the portrayal of a subculture foreign to most Americans. But the script is far too convoluted to follow, providing little exposition for the many Chinese names, unexplained motivations and unclear subplots.

The movie is bathed in grime and vice without repercussions or believability. These characters live in the parallel movie universe where cars explode when hit, where gangs have daily machine-gun fights in the streets, where a dozen men open fire on the protagonist and every bullet misses. These are the kind of cops that receive no reprimand after:

- 1.) Opening fire on bad guys in the middle of a crowded street;
- 2.) Leaving behind dozens of wounded civilians after such a shootout;
- 3.) Never radioing in their position, or calling for backup.

Unrealistic characters can work if they are interesting and unique. But no character here has clear motivations or loyalties, or even distinctive ways of speaking. Every character, regardless of accent, speaks in identical guttural insults, with obscenities substituting for all parts of speech, including prepositions.

Some police movies have captured with uncompromising realism the lives of street cops and the minutiae of police procedure. Others, like "Dirty Harry," have portrayed anti-heroes who ignore the law. Still others offer unapologetic fantasy.

This movie manages to merge the worst of all worlds, combining the gritty realism of the Marx Brothers with the lighthearted charm and ebullient wit of a Martin Scorsese film. Save your money.
